An Incident founded on Fact.

I was sitting at my window to-day, (Sunday) and I saw a laboring man passing on the side-walk rather poorly clad, and his clothes soiled with wear. I instantly remarked the contrast which his personal appearance presented to the fashionable throng that had just swept along in all the gay attire of a holiday. I was about to philosophise upon the contrast and speculate upon the chequered scenes of human existence, when I saw the man stoop and pick up two small pieces of coin. A smile of joy seemed to pass over his countenance as he looked at them and placed them in his pocket. I rejoiced with him, for he seemed to be happy. How little thought I, fills the poor man's heart with gladness That was a trifle, the loss of which a rich man would never know, and yet it has made this poorhard laboring man happy. Perhaps he had a family in want, and now enjoys the anticipated delight of ralieving them. Possibly it was a little God-send to supply the necessaries of some amiable and beloved wife languishing upon a bed of sickness, or helpless infancy incapable of providing for itself. Indeed I felt so much interested, that I put on my hat and followed the man along the walk, to see whither he would go and what he would do. He passed only to the next corner, where the door of a grocery stood open, at which he looked wishfully but hesitatingly, and then entered.

I hastened to see what he would do. He addressed the man in attendance, saying he had found a prize. That it was small, but he must have a TREAT out of it, for his good luck, and with the remainder he wanted to get some delicacy for his wife, who was very sick and had a very poor appetite. The bottle was handed down and he drankbefore he had any time to make any selection for his wife, an acquaintance entered. They shook hands, he told him of his good fortune, and asked him to drink to his "good luck," and again he drank. He soon appeared to feel quite socialthey commenced talking. He seemed to have forgotten his suffering wife, and shortly after some more of his acquaintance stepped in, and again he told his good fortune, and again they drank. They all became excited, got into a dispute, and finally into a quarrel, which came to llows. This produced a noise, and the police came to the rescue, and the last I saw of this unfortunate man was that he was marched off in the custody of an officer to lie in prison until he could be tried for this breach of the peace .- Buffulo Com. JACK SMASH.

Jack Smasher was one of the prettiest hands at coining; and more, he was blessed with a w fe born, I should say, with a genius for passing bad money. She took a crown-one of her husband's base-begotten off-pring-and purchased with it the three-pennyworth of rhubarb from a chemist, who, undone man! handed over four-and-ninepence change. In due season the apothecary detected the guileful crown, and in his own clear breast, resolved to destroy it. However, it remained by the strangest accident in his till, and by an accident still more extraordinary, was given in part of change for a guinea to a gentleman a little the worse for liquor, who, on his way home to bed, took the precaution of dropping into Straightback's for a box of-his own patent-anti-bacchic pills. In the morning the vinous gentleman discovered the pocket-piece, but as he had changed more than one gnines, could not with certainty detect the giver of the counterfeit. No matter: it remained loose with other money in his pocket, and one day, to his own surprise, he found he had passed it. He had taken a journey, and it was very dark when, in the handsomest manner, he fee'd the coachman. The poor man who drove the Tallyho did not realize more than £400 per annum, and could not afford to lose five shillings; hence, Smasher's crown became, at a fitting opportunity, the property of a randblind old gentlewoman, who, her loss discovered, lifted up her hands at the iniquity of the world, and put aside the brassy wickedness. The good old soul never missed a charity sermon. The Reverend Mr. Sulphurtangue made a sweet discourse in favor of the conversion of the Jews, and the church wardens condescended to hold each a plate. To the great disgust of the discoverers, a bad crown was detected amongst the subscribed half-crowns and shillings. The beadle was directed to destroy it. He intended to do so, but in pure forgetfulness, passed it one day for purl; the landledy of the 'George' having, as she said, 'taken it, was resolved not to loose it,' and by some accident it was given to a pedlar, who, after a walk of twenty miles, entered an ale house, took his supper of bread and cheese-went to bed rose, and proffered for his account Jack Smisher's pocket-piece. The pedlar was immediately given into the hands of a constable, taken before a magistrate, and ordered to be imprisoned and whipped as a passer of counterfeit money.

A HOT DINNER -Sharks, it is said, will follow a vessel for days or works together, in hopes of catching a man overboard, or for the sake of any bits of offal, or the refuse of the table. On this subject Jack Taffrail tells a pretty tough story. "There was," said he, "a big shark that followed the Mary Ann for a whole month together. He knew when it was meal time as well as the best of us, and would always be ready for his share of the mess as soon as the ship,s crew had finished theirs. Well, there was Tom Staysail and myself, we laid a plan to outwit the fellow. About dinner time one day we heated a canon bal, a twenty four pounder, red hot; and having first tossed Mr. Shark a bit or two of meat to get him in the way of catching well, we threw him the red hot ball. He caught it, and swallowed it quicker than you could say Jack Robinson." "Did'nt it kill him," asked a bystander. "I don't know, faith," returned Jack, "but I believe he thought 'twas a farnation hot dinner, for we never saw him afterwards."

A spendthrift, who had nearly wasted all his patrimony, seeing an acquaintance in a coat not of the newest cut, told him that he thought it had been his great grandfather's coat. "So it was," said the gentleman, "and I have also my great grandfather's lands, which is more than you can say."

The Philadelphia Casket.

UNPARALLELED SUCCESS! BROSPECTUS OF A NEW VOLUME.-The great increase in the subscription list of the Casket since the first of the year, warrants the most extensive improvements on the first of July next-at which time a new volume will be commenced with increased vigor. Nothing need be said of the firm basis on which the Casket stands, it being already the oldest magazine in the country.

TYPÉ-EMBELLISHMENTS. The Ca-ket is printed with a clear and silvery type, upon the finest white paper. The illustrations are not surpassed by those of any periodical at home or abroad; and beside the monthly steel engravings, a quar erly p ate of colored fashions has The style of these embellishments is unequalled, and they are always accompanied with an appropriate sketch. No wood cuts disgrace the work. Whatever appears to the casket is of the first order of the art.

LITERARY CHARACTERS. The literary character of the Ca-ket is well known. It is wholly original, of the highest order, and tained by WRITERS OF THE FIRST RANK. Essays, Tales, Sketches, and Travels, compose its prominent prose articles; while the poetry is equalled 1y that of no other magazine of ike character. The variety for which the Ca ket is celebrated, shall suffer no diminution; but on the contrary, every exertion shall be made to in-

SEVERAL ROMANCES OF THE REVOLU-TION have already appeared, and others shall follow in the course of the volume, presenting when finished, a complete picture of the manner, and a hisorical account of the great battles at that time. Thus, the Casket, instead of being filled with sickly entimentalities, aims at a true de ineation of human nature in every vari-ty of passion

TIME OF PUBLICATION. The Casket is published on the first of the nonth in every quarter of the Union. The most distant substibers consequently receive it in that day, as well as those who reside in Philadelphia. In all the principal cities agents have been established, by which means substitlers can obtain their copies free of postage, FASHIONS,

The fishions are published in the Casket quarrly, or as often as any really new styles arrive from Paris. The engravings are colored, and executed from original designs. No old, wern out plates are resouched and then published as the latest fashions. The truth of our designs may be tested by compaing them will the latest description of dress s from Lond n and Pari.

Works of Nature. IN a state of health the intestinal canal may be empared to a river whose waters flow over the adjoining land, through the channels nature or art has made, and improves their qualities; and to keep up the comparison of the river, so long as it runs smo thly the channels are kept pure and healthy; out if by some cause the course of the river is stopped, then the water in the causis is no longer pure, but soon becomes stagnant. There is lut one law of circulation in nature. When there is a superabundance of humorial fluid (serocity) in the intestinal tubes, and costiveness takes place, it fl ws back into the blood vessels, and infiltrates itself into the circulation. To establish the free course of able process. The ladies have the advantage in the river, we must remove the obstructions which stop its free course, and those of its tributary stream. With the body, follow the same natural principal; remove, by that valuable purgative medicine Beandreth,s Universal Vegetable Pills, which are an eff ctual assistance of nature, the super bundance of humors in the inte-tine canal. PROSPECTUS

OF THE JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN SILK SO-CIETY, AND RURAL ECONOMIST. EDITED BY GIBEON B. SMITH.

THIS Journal was established by the American Silk Society, for the purpose of diffusing practical information on the TULTURE OF SILK in the United States. It has now been published one year, and may be considered a work of sandard character.

The first year's publication, comprising the first olume, contailes a mass of valuable information, and it will be the o'j'ct of the editor to make the second equal in all resp ts, if not superior, to the first. The important fact is now estal lished be youd any question, that the people of the United States can make silk CHEAPER and BETTER than any other nation upon earth. It has been proved by unin-peachable test mony, that the entire cost of producing silk ready for ma ket, does not exceed TWO BOLLARS AND TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER POUND, and its lowest value is FOUR BOLLAUS AND FIFTY CENTS; also, that ONE ACRE of ground plant ed in morus multicaulis, will produce the first year. filled with descriptions of these nauseating comthe trees are planted, rovary-stoar rounds or pounds. SILK, leaving a clear profit to the producer of one HUNDRED AND EIGHT DOLLARS! It has also been proved that the children and females of any farmer's fimily can, with the greate t possible ease, produce from fifty to a hundred p unds of silk every year, without any cost whatever to the expenses of the farm after the trees are planted; and therefore, that the whole amount of silk will be so much clear gain, say from $225 to $450. With these facts we submit to an intell gent people wether it is not a great and important object for them to introduce the culture of silk in every farmer's family in the Union. To enable all our farmers to make sik, the Joun-NALOF THE AMERICAN SILE SOCIETT' WAS OST A. lished; it contains plain practical directions for cut-TIVATING THE TREES, PERDING and REARING SILE wonns, necessor the silk, and prepring it for market, &c. besides all other information that can be r quired to enable any person to enter upon the business, either on a large or small scale. Every new wa chouse, which his arrangements will en :- friend of his country, into wh se hands this paper may fall, will be d. ing a patriot and philan hrapist's work by inducing his friends and neighbours to enter their names upon the list of sub-cribers.

The Journal of the American Society is published month'y, in pamphlet form; each number contains thirty two octavo pages, printed on new type and handsome paper, wi h a printed colored cover.

TERMS :- Two dollars a year, or six copies for ten dollars, always to be paid before the work is sent. All subscriptions to begin with the first number of the year, and in no case will the work be sent to any subscriber longer than it shall have been paid for.

New sunscrinens, who take the first and second volumes, will be charged only THREE DOL-LARS for the two years,

ASTONISHING INCREASE.

FOUR THOUSAND NEW SUBSCRIBERS IN TWO MONTHS!!!

Wars we first purchased the old and well known establishment of the Saturday Evening Post.

we stated that the paper circulated so widely among the steady, reading portion of the United States, that we entered upon our labors with full confidence of the future. Our success has since been beyond our most sanguine expectation, as our weekly receipts overbalance those of any cotemporary paper. Our lot has continued to swell up, with unexampled rapidity, and we have the confidence, that at the present rate of increase, we shall be enabled in a few months to boast of more than 35,000 subscribers! When we commenced our labors, we announced distinctly, that the tone of the paper should be decidedly moral, and that nothing should be admitted into our columns, which the most fastidious father could disapprove of, and determ ned that as an approved Family Paper, it should not contain a paragraph, with the spirit of familiar, and we therefore, with this view, announced that no theatrical notices should appear in our columns, and that we should be opposed to theatres as things calculated to injure the healthy action of an honest mind,—as creative of exhibitions demoralizing in tendency, and fearfully permicious in There were not wanting blusterers, who made a great parade of opposition, and Croakers, who predicted our speedy downfall, but we threw ourselves upon the sober, rational and experienced portion of the people of the United States for suport, and we have been nobly sustained,

We thought and expressed the opinion, that however careless many might be upon this subject, that few, even if they did not entirely disapprove of such entertainments, cared about having the gross details forever paraded before the eyes of their children, and the sickening and nauseating eulogy of all kinds of characters made familiar to their minds.

We determined also, that while the paper continued under our control, it should be strictly neutral in politics, and that as news and literary journalists we had nothing to do with the matter determination has been strictly and rigidly adhered to, and while we shall continue to give our readers such public document as may be deemed of interest to all, and such a history of the progress of duty, and the character of the paper, we shall studiously and thoroughly avoid any contamination of partiz n politics.

The paper is now printed in a new and beautiful type, -has received the praise of many editors of aste, as the handsomest family sheet in the Union." Our efforts have been directed to the combining f beauty and simplicity with utility and taste. The Post is printed on a stout white paper, rendering it neat and durable for filing. In addition to these efforts toward perfection in the mechanical department, and exterior of our paper, no labor, and no cost been spared in the de velopement of intellectual strength. The present variety of interesting tales, original, from foreign and domestic magazines, together with the valuable contributions of our own circle of literary friends will continue to give interest to the paper, while everything important and worthy of note that nappens in the Old World or the New, shall be collected and collated for the taste of our rea-

The Brother Jonathan.

THE targest and most beautiful newspaper in the world—larger by fifty square inches than any other newspaper in the United States. Published Saturdays, at 162 Nassau street, New York. Price three dollars a year-two copies for five dol-

The proprietors of this mammoth sheet-"Great Western" among the newspapershave the pleasure of streading before the reading public a we kly periodical containing a greater as mount and variety of useful and inter-sting miscellany, than is to be found in any similar publication in the world. Each number of the paper contains as large an amount of reading matter as is found in volumes of ordinary duodecimo, which cost $2-and more than is contained in a volume of Irving's Columbus or Bancroft's History of America, which cost #3 a volume-and all for Three Dollars a year, For $5 two copies will be forwarded one year, or one copy two years.

Since the publication of our original prospectus, the Brother Jonathan has been ENLARGED and its size, amply before, has been so much increased, which a parent would not wish to have a daughter that much more than the former quantity of the most interesting literature of the day is embraced in its immense capasity. Scientisms from all the most prominent and celebrated writers of the day assist in swelling its contents; and whatever is new, rich, or rare, is imediately transferred to its columns. All the contributions to periodicals of American writers of repute appear in its pages; and the issues of the foreign press are laid under contributions, as soon as received in this country. To the miscellaneous and Literary Department, the closest attention is paid; and in all the selections and original contributio s, strict care is devoted to avoid all that may touch upon the opinions of any party in relgion or Experiance having taught us that we had marked out a path for ourselves, in which all sorts of people delights to tollow, the Brother Jonathan shall continue, as it begun, to be a bold, gentle, weighty, light, grave, mercy, serious, witty, smooth, dashing, interesing, inspired, and incomparable newspaper. It shall be a stupendous mirror where-In all the world will stann reflected. It shall contain the most beautiful of Novels, Romances and Stories for both sexes-Fairy Tales for lovers of the marvell us-Legends for antiquaries-Pasquinades for wit mongers-Nuts and raisins for shortwinded readers-Serenades for musical lovers-Sonnets for Ladies-Sentiment for old backelors-Stapolitical events, as are strictly in keeping with our | tistics for politicians-and Lectures, Sermons, Criticisms, Epigrams, &c., &c., &c., for all the world.

Smith Of the above eminent writers, celebrated in our own, and most of them well known in other countries, each have had an article either in the January or February number of the Book. It is unnecessary for us to say that no such array of names can be shown by any other magazine in this country, of any paice. We give three times as many emb llishments as any other mag zine, and each plate is equal, if not superior to the one of any cotemporary, and yet the price of the magazine is not increased. Our adiation is immense, therefore we are enabled to go to a greater expense than any other publisher. A better return may therefore be expected for the price paid for subscription.

In the two numbers just published we have given four Plates of Fa-bions, containing eleven Fi-One splend d Steel Plate beyond compare, the best

In addition to our usual well arranged embellishments, we always publish steel title pages twice a

The whole amount of engravings and embellishments of various kinds that the book contains, or will contain this year, may be estimated at about

A new series of papers of great value has been lately commenced by hirs. Hale. "The Domestic Department," This during the year will compose a great amount of usual matter.

For enterprize at least, we think we deserve some credit; we have been the first to give to an American public original articles from the pens of Mary Russel Mitford, author of "Our Village"-Mrs. C. Baron Wilson editor of London La Belle Assemblee, Mrs. Heffland, author of several useful and valuable works ;- James Montgomery, suther of "Omnipresence of the Deity," &c ; Thomas Miller, author of Fair Rosamond and Royston Gower ;-Ebeneezer Elliott, author of Corn Law Rhymes.

We do not particularly mention these names because they ail date from London-our object only is to show that where there are good articles to be had, there will we apply. No author of any reputation in our own country has ever sought admis sion to "The Book" in 'ain.
